Add your design!

Designs should be inspired by the question “What does open science mean to you?” and may also touch on topics such as basic science, STEM careers, diversity in STEM, and/or the importance of science in our community. Please draw your design directly into this circle or copy and paste your student-created digital graphic in this space. You may also upload your design directly to the online entry form. Please remember to answer the design question!

ACCOMPANYING QUESTION:

The answer may be handwritten or typed. The response may be transcribed for younger participants.

What does open science mean to you?
